Hello – here is a copy of the letter I emailed to the above this afternoon.

I have been a shareholder since February of 2014, and have steadily increased my position with the company the more I learned about the company's plans and the integrity and accomplishments of Bill Chabaan and the Board of Directors. From day one, I have read very misleading falsehoods on the stock message boards Yahoo and Investors Hub – that the company wasn't really building anything and time after time I saw photographs and concrete evidence that the company was following through with everything that they claimed to be pursuing.

When PHOT, which I had also invested in, was halted by the SEC, I was extremely impressed with the speed with which Bill Chabaan severed all ties with PHOT. To me, it reflected the integrity of the company.

As the months unfolded, the construction was completed, another facility in Lakeshore was purchased and news of the inspection and the actual report that stated there were only two minor deficiencies that were immediately fixed again reinforced to me that this was a company that delivered on its promises. According to Health Canada's own timelines, the license issuance should have been within a few WEEKS of the positive inspection. Yet month after month passed, with other companies being granted provisional and full licenses. I kept wondering, why not CEN BIOTECH?

Then the Lakeshore fiasco transpired in the late fall. I watched the meeting on a live stream and just was shocked that the town would vote to change the zoning and essentially stab a company in the back. Against the advice of a paid advisor who told them not to change the zoning. After welcoming the company publicly to the town, watching the building progress, the town suddenly was swayed to change its zoning because a group of abutters at the 11th hour complained that they had been kept in the dark. Really? All the information was public and announced in press conferences, building permits were filed, information sessions were held, and the construction happened right in front of them. And then town voted to send a letter to Health Canada asking them not to issue the license to the company. How is this legal?

When the bashing articles authored by Matt Finston, Chris Perry and Alan Brochstein started, I couldn't believe that a group of so-called financial experts would risk their own reputation to smear and libel a company when it was so obvious that these "writers" were not basing anything on actual facts.

When Grant Robertson chimed in with his horribly libelous articles filled with innuendoes and unnamed sources, I watched in horror as the stock price dropped and dropped. Interestingly Robertson has written 12 negative articles on CEN BIOTECH yet did not even address the recent recall of contaminated medical marijuana that was shipped to patients by a licensed producer. No one is even allowed to post a comment on his libelous articles to refute the lies that he spews out. I'd like to know who is benefiting financially by these libelous articles that have hammed the stock price and smeared the reputation of the company.

The ultimate event for me was when Grant Robertson was leaked information from Stephan Shank of Health Canada AGAINST ITS OWN PRIVACY POLICY on February 13th and published an article announcing this on February 14th before the company was even informed. I thought finally justice will prevail and these unethical people would be called out and Cen Biotech would finally receive the license it deserved. But nothing happened.

It is quite apparent to me that there are either political forces or an enemy with very deep pockets and connections who are determined to stall and destroy the dreams of Creative Edge Nutrition/CEN Biotech. The actions of Lakeshore, Health Canada, the so-called journalists and paid bashers and politicians have crushed the stock price and the hopes and dreams of many investors who, like me, have recognized the potential of this company and trust in the integrity of Bill Chabaan and the excellent team of people he has lined up.

I keep thinking that someone will step in and call out the lies of these so-called journalists and force Lakeshore to maintain the zoning with which the company built the facility and that Health Canada will step up to the plate and issue the license the company deserves.

I implore the proper authorities to investigate the events that have transpired and discover who is behind this horrendously unfair and unethical treatment of a company that has so much potential and has done everything by the book. I hold all my shares and I still believe in the vision and potential of this company.

Very truly yours,

Shareholder

Personal concerns over media manipulation of CEN Biotech Inc.

To Whom it May Concern,

I am writing this email to bring to light my own concerns in relation to the bad press and what I believe to be intentional manipulation of facts, by several internet personalities, surrounding the activities of Creative Edge Nutrition Inc. and CEN Biotech Inc. I myself have been a shareholder invested in Creative Edge Nutrition Inc. (FITX) for over a year now. I'm a resident of Ontario and a university student in my 4th year. My personal interest in the company Creative Edge Nutrition Inc. began because of their unique transparency to their shareholders in a budding industry. This was the initial push that drove me to open an investment account. I have done thousands of hours of research on this company and I have been gathering information on the various of operation in the United States, Canada and worldwide (including possible clients for future mergers). My confidence in the company has not been affected, but I have witnessed concerted efforts and attacks to manipulate investors in FITX. The stock FITX was the first stock I ever purchased and I still own it to this day. In my household (3-roommates plus myself) there are 3-shareholders of FITX. The company, board of directors and employees have released all information in realistic time frames, where capable, as per my knowledge. Several media sources have been releasing information containing sensitive information and information that has not yet been released by the company themselves in relation to the application CEN Biotech Inc. put forth to acquire a license to grow and sell medical marijuana legally in Canada. The media attacks, in addition to several individual attacks (by individuals such as Matt Finston, Alan Brochstein, Chris Parry, Grant Robertson and others), have caused me, dozens of friends and thousands of investors, who I communicate with daily (on Facebook Groups designed to gather information about Creative Edge Nutrition Inc. and CEN Biotech Inc.), severe financial loss.

Several of these individuals of concern, who I believe to have engaged in suspicious and driven activities to write biased articles against the company operations and employees, have also engaged in communications with Health Canada directly - which could have affected the applicant status of CEN Biotech Inc.

The media "attacks" driven by Grant Robertson, Chris Parry, Matt Finston and Alan Brochstein have been relentless and together these individuals have written over 70 articles that badmouth, distort and manipulate their readers into making investment decisions about the stock FITX. These individuals have also contributed to personal attacks on the CEO of the company CEN Biotech Inc. (and previously Creative Edge Nutrition Inc.) which I have witnessed on Facebook and on other social media platforms such as IHub, Investor's Hangout, Facebook, Twitter, Youtube and via many media outlets that have shared the misinformation like wildfire.

Presently, there has been claimed to be an investigation put forth against the company and I encourage investigation of ALL concerned parties. I encourage investigation of the parties who are making investment blogs, articles and giving investment opinions related to the company. This stock has been very volatile, but it can be noted that every time one of their articles or blogs is released the share price drops. This phenomenon can be viewed in one of the <http://www.mmj.today/> articles where a chart is showing that details the daily price versus the release of "Bash" articles. These individuals who write almost weekly about the company, in a negative light, also utilize social media to scare investors and to drive media opinion against CEN Biotech Inc.

In November 2014, the company announced the intention to spin-off CEN Biotech Inc. as a wholly-owned subsidiary. The new company will be run by CEO Bill Chaaban and Creative Edge Nutrition Inc. will be run by CEO James L. Robinson (Focussing on the energy drink Giddy Up).

The company CEN Biotech Inc. indicated to Health Canada in communication that several media organizations had begun an attack on them that I would argue is contributing to financial, psychological and physiological duress to the investors who have held FITX in the past year (present or past). My concern is to protect my investment, my friend's investments and to ensure that all concerned parties are effectively investigated for their intentional bias.

Please consider my concerns and consider an investigation into the actions of the parties targeting Creative Edge Nutrition Inc. and CEN Biotech Inc.

Sincerely,

To Whom it may concern,

I am long-term investor in Creative Edge Nutrition and its subsidiary Cen Biotech (FITX), and in full support of the company. I started investing in FITX shortly after Bill Chaaban became CEO. Never have I seen such enthusiasm and positive results in a CEO. Bill Chaaban, has been transparent, open, and honest to the concerns of shareholders, who continue to be impressed with his leadership.

But I am very concerned that it has been reported that the OCS is investigating about the unwarranted and vicious attacks against the Company, Bill Chabban and other vocal Shareholders. What I don't understand is why the likes of Matt Finston, Chris Parry (two bloggers and writers) and Grant Robertson of the Globe and Mail just to name a few are relentlessly allowed to attack Cen-Biotech and Bill Chaaban with their half-truths and outright vicious lies. I'd like to see the OSC widen its scope of investigation to the very real idea of a conspiracy to defame and defraud Cen Biotech Inc.

I understand the risk of investing in the OTC market, but that risk should be within the companies own workings of whether it succeeds or fails, our risk should not be from con men, thieves, criminals that can easy manipulate a company and its share price.

God Bless

I am shareholder of CEN BIOTECH (OTC MARKET TICKER: FITX) & have been since Cen Biotech has first entered the MMJ space.

I write to you because of the false press that has unfortunately found its' way to some of the mainstream outlets, causing a lot of negative attention and threats to not only the company itself but also to their investors. It is also causing thousands of investors to suffer and it's not due to any company wrong doings .I have listed those responsible for the organized attacks, as they're not shy about it.

Please investigate not only their articles but their social media engagements as well.

those who continue correlate & lead such an attack are:

Seeking Alpha's blogger, & FaceBook regular, Matthew Finston , Twitter regular, HotStocks & The Stockhouse blogger, (who has direct ties with Cen Biotech's would be competition) Chris Parry
the founder of 420 Investor , Alan Brochstein (who has direct ties with Cen Biotech's would be competition)
Canadian Author of the respected Globe and Mail, Grant Robertson .

I have & continue to - witness the intentional , false reporting , on Cen Biotech along with watching our CEO , Bill Chaaban endures having his words twisted (by the mentioned above), threatened with violence and smeared with racists remarks. Even I , myself , am forced to watch tirelessly , as i'm being harassed & monitored (by the mentioned above). Yes that's correct. All because I too invest in Cen Biotech. We , (myself along with thousands of other Cen Biotech's investor's) are being harassed, watched, accused, and taunted on a daily basis. They , (individuals mentioned above) have even gone as far as labeling us "The Cult" and even go as far as to publish this "label" in their articles, that are reaching thousands of investors .

I also write to you , in regards to what is happening in the town , that Cen Biotech , was built in... Lakeshore, Canada.

This is the part I really find odd & it is the ammo that is fueling the mentioned above. I have provided an interesting timeline for you to possibly investigate. (please see attachment) .

Now this company is under investigation , which I as a knowledgeable shareholder, welcome but I also beg that Lakeshore Council and their Mayor , Tom Bain are also investigated as there is truly corruption against Cen Biotech happening , as we speak. Please help protect the innocent and help the businesses that are trying to build and create jobs to stabilize communities but have to fight dirty politicians and corrupt media exposure.

Thank you for your time and I pray that someone looks into this , fairly quickly as it's hurting good folks.
God Bless .

To whom it may concern,

I am a shareholder of Creative Edge Nutrition/Cen Biotech Inc., (FITX). I have been holding shares for almost 3 years now and have utmost confidence in the Company, it's Board of Directors and Staff.

I have performed hour upon hour of Due Diligence on this Company and all parties involved. I am aware of all claims, in my opinion false, made against the Company and Bill Chaaban. It literally sickens me. When anyone makes a claim of being "the biggest" or the "best", detractors (competition) will do what they can to diminish (attack) that claim, as is the case with most businesses. But considering all of the directions the attacks are coming from, i.e. The Globe and Mail's Grant Robertson, Matt Finston, Chris Parry and Alan Brockstein (stock bloggers), the complete "about face" of the Town of Lakeshore and Mayor Tom Bain, to name a few, screams COLLUSION to me.

The Company received a "Ready to Build" letter from Health Canada which, according to the HC Regulations, means that the Company has everything in place, to include the local Municipal permits and approval to build the proposed facility.....period. The Facility was built and finally inspected on July 31, 2014. The Inspector's Conclusion states: "Based on the information provided during the inspection, the applicant will be ready and able to meet the requirements of the MMPR provided that the deficiencies noted during the inspection debrief meeting are addressed. A re-inspection may be required to assess the security measures for the full scale growing pods once construction is complete." The 2 deficiencies were minor and immediately addressed. As for the "security measures for the full scale growing Pods", it is unclear as to whether a re-inspection was actually required or even addressed by Health Canada. The Facility now sits in limbo, eight months later.

The biggest impact of denying Cen Biotech the license needed to conduct their business are the Patients of Canada and as Cen Biotech has applied for Export, other parts of the world. The Cen Biotech Staff are renowned for their expertise, dedication and experience in researching, developing and formulating/compounding medication and remedies for treatment in several areas that cannabis has also been proven to provide positive results. I believe that Cen Biotech would be one of the major contributors and pioneers in the development of a natural treatment, without negative side effects, should they be "allowed" to do so.

It's not that uncommon. We have to file our aggregate holdings with the SEC every quarter in something called a 13F. This guy just saw how many shares the firm owns but doesn't show which client(s) make up the allocation.

We have not sent you any documents as they are confidential and we don't believe you would do anything regardless of what we sent you. We asked you to be honourable and show that you not a paid basher of our company. You wrote things about our Viorra product that was not true such as the fact we had it since the year 2000 which was not close to being true. You then instead of writing something to apologize about the big mistake sneakily go and change the date on the article instead of writing any kind of blurb mentioning the mistake. We then ask you to at least write or mention some positive comments about the fact we are very close to getting a medical marijuana license and that it was at least a little bit positive. You pretend to tell us we have no financial statements and have no information when the OTC markets allow for an attorney to verify the financial statements yet that didn't stop you from writing something negative. You can write something to cut us down but you give us crap that you not allowed to post something, or at least anything positive as we are requesting. You even tweet negative crap about us like its a game to you

We want to let you know that unless you do something positive to reverse an article filled with mis-information and the damage caused from it which we believe was done on behalf of others that wanted to short our stock then we will seriously consider having our lawyer contemplate launching a lawsuit against you for the market value lost. I am saying we will take action and you will get a letter from our attorney in the next few weeks as we have raised some funding and wont stand for deception and agendas to kill our company with utter lies. Speaking ones opinion is one thing, but to completely lie and distort the truth is something that you will lose in court on

Dear Mathew

Thank you for your response as it is greatly appreciated by us at the company. We understand that you did not know much about our company and I understand you are open to finding out more about a company and give companies a chance to demonstrate who they are. We apologize for missing your calls to us which was probably due to our website and domain being changed.

As for Viorra, I need to first make you understand that Viorra has not been around since 1998. We originally developed a drug that was approved by the FDA under the 510K filing which speeded up an approval or submission. That product was called the L.A.M. IPM Wound gel and was not Viorra. Viorra was only developed and brought into the company in 2009. Previous management made mistakes with the IPM wound gel by not getting it approved by medicare which meant that users needed to pay for it on their own. Other mistakes were also made which is something that hurt our company as our drug was touted by the FDA as being 88% effective in treating wounds. Unfortunately it did not make any sales and the company ultimately made the decision to sell the product and move towards Viorra and other products. It has only been the last 6 months that we have made very good headway and positive progress due to the fact we have been getting financed from an accredited investor who has also agreed to finance us an additional $5 Million over the next year. Our company and its current management are diligently working to not make the same mistakes from the past. We have a slew of OTC products and will soon be selling our Viorra product in North America. We also have a minority interest in an early stage cancer drug which we believe has lots of promise due to some early stage tests on some volunteer patients. Wev are close to turning that minority interest to a majority interest in the cancer drug very shortly. We think we have a great story and a lot of potential to do many good things.

Added to our products is our medical marijuana initiatives. We have some very good things on the go and we would very much like to discuss it with you and possibly fly you to Colorado or here in Toronto to go through everything we have on the go.

Can I request that I have an initial call with you sometime next week to setup some thing whether it be a conference call or having you fly to meet with us in person as we would appreciate the opportunity.

Regarding CEN Biotech (Ticker: FITX)

To whom it may concern:

It has come to the attention of investors such as myself that the Ontario Securities Commission has begun an internal investigation on the CEN Biotech Inc (Ticker: FITX). The Ontario Securities Commission has a long-standing history that encourages public written communication in regards to companies being investigated. Typically, the OSC advises stockholders, upon inquiry, whether it would recommend the Commission to enforce a "no-action" that does not merit investigation. Under the circumstance's surrounding CEN Biotech, many investors believe that the company has fallen victim of several corrupt media journalists and paid bashers focusing heavily to destroy an honest and very transparent company. There has been no illegal activity or violations from CEN Biotech.

Though neither statute nor regulation can seemingly impose an obligation to render a "no-action" decision to the Commission, the salient point of this letter is to help provide key events that have transpired over the past 6 months, that have grossly misrepresented CEN Biotech.

1. Cen Biotech has fallen victim of Lakeshore's corrupt board members, including but not limited to: Mayor Tom Bain, Steve Bezaire, Steve Salmons, and other members who have retroactively changed their position regarding marijuana zoning bylaws only AFTER the company had built out their facility. More on this can be found here:
<http://www.basher.wiki/cen-biotechs-mmpr-debate/>
2. Several harsh articles regarding CEN Biotech has been written by Grant Robertson from the Globe and Mail, Chris Parry from StockHouse.com, and Alan Brochstein, from 420investors, which has unusually been focused on bashing CEN Biotech almost daily since December 27th, 2014. Of note, no other reporter except Grant Robertson or any news agency, except Globe and Mail has ostensibly focused on a company to this degree, speculating many investors that there are serious illegal direct or indirect ties with Tilray, a competitor of CEN Biotech. Many of Grant's articles can be found here and are sensationalized, lack any evidence, and aimed to destroy this company:
<http://www.theglobeandmail.com/authors/grant-robertson>
3. Health Canada as well as Lakeshore, Ontario, (the location of the CEN Biotech facility) had given a unanimous green light for CEN Biotech to build their facility in a "ready to build letter", long before the completion of the facility. All zoning bylaws were correctly documented to build a marijuana facility in an agricultural zone. (which was abruptly revised to an industrial zoning long after the completion of the facility) Many aspects of this can be found in this article here: <http://seekingalpha.com/instablog/822743-rise51/3762426-cen-biotech-the-thin-red-line>

Furthermore, a shareholder had also compiled this video that seemingly shows the corrupt and gross misrepresentation of Lakeshore: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SL7CbiPklrU>

4. Bill Chaaban, the company, and investors have been constantly attacked verbally and the internet, from bashers via social media outlets such as twitter, facebook, and ihub.com, often engaging in serious violations in privacy laws. Many opponents of CEN Biotech have relentlessly posted on the internet personal and private information of investors, (including myself) address, phone numbers, bank accounts, private photographs, and other maliciously intended documentations aimed to suppress and often misrepresent the shareholders and the company to their demise. This is not acceptable and a serious violation of privacy and professionalism in the financial platform. No other penny stock company been so vehemently attacked as CEN Biotech Inc.

Despite the obvious and often debilitating negative publications of CEN Biotech, investors believe Bill Chaaban and the company have been nothing more than transparent in their disclosure regarding the company and have been substantially engaged in following every rule and regulation by the SEC as well as OSC. Investors such as myself ask of you to resolve this issue in a no-action process and allow CEN Biotech to hone their energy, time, and financial security to advance and build this extraordinary company. We all realize there are many opponents to every side of a story, and mature competition is healthy in any financial platform. However, the vicious attacks and seemingly orchestrated publications by basher media outlets must come to an end, as it is hurting the reputation of the Company and thousands of investors daily.

I thank you for reading this letter and trust that the OSC as well as the SEC does not follow suit in the biased and grossly misrepresented media bashing articles such as Globe and Mail in the prospects of this company's application.

Respectfully,

To Whom it may concern,

I am US citizen writing to you today as a shareholder in Cen Biotech (FITX). It is time to stand up and have my voice heard after relentless coordinated attacks against the credibility of the company and in particular the CEO Bill Chaaban. This week I have learned that the OSC is investigating the company as a result of the mis-information being released by those wishing to prevent Cen Biotech from receiving a license from Health Canada for the largest state of the art medical marijuana facility in Lakeshore, Canada. I have been accumulating shares since October of 2013 on a weekly basis. Since the emergence of the MMJ as a new industry I have followed hundreds of start-ups and have invested in more than forty companies over the past two years. Today I only hold a positron in Cen Biotech (FITX) as I respect and firmly believe in their mission, integrity, and leadership. I have watched since their entrance into the MMJ market as they grew and developed a vertically integrated global business that will surely become an industry leader as this sector matures and grows. The Board of directors comprised of industry and financial leaders is unlike all others. Having followed, studied and researched dozens of companies in this market Cen Biotech has proven themselves time and again, implementing their plan with full transparency and commitment to their shareholders. Today this openness and integrity is rarely found in the emerging investing market rife with "pump and dump" get rich schemes and fraudulent and unscrupulous companies.

When Cen Biotech announced their intent to build a world class, state of the art MMJ growing facility in Lakeshore they were welcomed with open arms by mayor Tom Bian and Health Canada. Since then Cen Biotech has invested and built a multi-million dollar facility and has passed inspection by Health Canada, after following all and every requirement, but has yet to receive a license. Since then it appears that the integrity of the honorable Mayor and representatives of Health Canada have been compromised by those threatened by competition. There has been a coordinated attack from the media and blog posters with dozens upon dozens of critical articles full of half truths, innuendos, mis-information and outright slanderous lies. The sheer volume has been staggering and released with prejudice without fear of reprisal. Leaks from Health Canada to these "journalists" have added to the coordinated attack and suspicion of a conspiracy from current established competition intent on developing a monopoly in this industry potentially worth billions.

It is time for the government of Canada, the courts, and the elected officials to stand up for what is right not only for Cen Biotech and their investors but especially for those patients that seek relief with quality affordable medication. Minimal investigation on your part will more the support my claims. I implore you to do what is right.

I'm wondering if there is anyone from CEN Biotech who can comment on what's next for the facility in Lakeshore now that Health Canada issued a final rejection notice?

Many in the community, especially neighbours, are concerned about the site.

I've tried numerous times over the past two weeks reaching out to CEN Biotech's lawyer, Byrne in Essex, and he hasn't returned any of my calls.

Thanks,

You are attempting to acquire insider information from our contractors. If this behavior continues, we will report your actions to the U.S. SEC. And they will investigate your trading practices. This can also be construed as tortious interference with an economic enterprise.

Govern yourself accordingly,

Hello,

My apologies just a concerned investor. I have been a long for a while now. I am on the FB group and have been invested for over a year. Haven't sold , my average is .023. Once license is granted you will be a powerhouse. Until then we have to deal with bs like this article.

To Whom it may concern,

I am a share holder of the company Cen Biotech that trades under the ticker (FITX)

I am writing this letter of concern, as a share holder of FITX. As It has come to my attention that the OSC is conducting an investigation of the company. And I would like to make the statement. That in NO way have I felt like I have been miss lead by the company or any of its employees in anyway.

As a share holder for over a year. I feel that I have viewed any and all Public information available. To the best of my knowledge to include all Lakeshore council meetings, press releases, interviews and all other information concerning Cen Biotech. Starting from this press event held by the Essex Windsor Growth & Development Council <https://vimeo.com/83685127> Held Jan. 7 2014 That encouraged me greatly to increase my holdings of FITX stock. To note: the Mayor, Tom Bain of Lakeshore welcoming CEN with open arms and his hopes of the industry exploding and expanding. And his comment of looking forward to working with Bill Chaaban the CEO of Cen Biotech.

Since that time, I have watched all of the updates as construction of the facility moved forward to completion. And the company's announcement in April 2014. That they had informed Health Canada, that they were ready for the Pre licensing Inspection to be done for the facility. Nearly 4 months later we learned that the inspection was finally performed at the end of July 2014 And that the inspector had noted two small deficiency's (that were immediately addressed) and reported that the company was ready to proceed with Operations.

During this long delay and hold up by Health Canada. The Company and investors saw an ever increasing amount of attacks though the Media. And investor message boards across the internet. We also saw the 180 degree turn around by the Lakeshore council and the Mayor. Tom Bain. of Lakeshore. To my complete disbelief, as to what I was seeing and hearing.! The Council completely ignored all advisement of there own town Planner, that had been researching the issue in depth. And looking to how other community's were handling the issues involving MMPR applicants. The Lakeshore council started to make any and all efforts to Block the company from obtaining a License under the MMPR program and to discredit the company. A 100% complete change in attitude towards Cen Biotech. They began to interfere with the Licensing process. By sending letters to Heath Canada requesting them to withhold and not to award the company a license. Then quickly created new Bylaws in November 2014 in an attempt to create a non compliance for the already constructed facility. By requiring MMPR producers to only be located in industrial zones. after approving and permitting the facility to be built and located on agricultural lands. With full knowledge of the intent to produce Medical Marijuana on the property and the size of the operation that was proposed. All of this occurred 7 months after Cen Biotech. had requested the inspection of the facility by Heath Canada and to begin operations.

I have been Appalled and sickened by what I have witnessed. I have Never seen such unscrupulous behavior in MY LIFE! The facility remains to this day at a stand still. Approaching a year later, from first requesting an inspection of the facility.

With All the delays, the door opened wide for seemingly, Paid Bashers. (for lack of another word) that began to dominate all public message boards about Cen Biotech. for nearly a year now. the same group has been actively spreading accusations about Bill Chaaban and the company's intent to fraud investors. NON STOP. and quickly deleting and removing any positive information about the company from these boards. And have relentlessly spread fear and hate for the company very effectively. The attack on the company through these types of vehicles, such as Investor Hub. has greatly effected share value. As the PPS has fallen and investors lost of share value. these actions have enlisted more hostile behavior from former share holders that believe in all the propoganda spread by media. further effecting the company's share price. A quick look at the posting history of many of the ones posting on IHUB will show this behavior. I don't know of anyone that would actively post for a year on a company that they dislike? It is not normal behavior to do so. Nor is it normal for a publication such as the Globe and Mail to produce rapid fire articles with no balanced view at all. As I have seen with 11+ publications seemingly Hell bent on the destruction of Cen biotech. That have been put out by Grant Robertson. With him also accusing Health Canada of incompetence in the screening process. That had allowed Cen Biotech to get so far in the application process. His odd Obsession with Cen Biotech raises many questions in my mind! like he has intentionally been manipulating the stock price though his repeated publications about the company. and the odd price movements I have seen, in conjunction with his articles. Such as the massive spike in Volume and price I saw in February with no News, in the few days before his release of information. About Health Canada sending a letter to CEN Biotech, of the intent to deny them a license. Is very suspect!! Along with many other odd price movements that have surrounded his publications. And the effect they have had in pounding the share price down. After showing any gains.

It is unclear to me, what or who has been behind these attacks. But the intent to derail Cen Biotech. Can not be anymore Obvious or Clear!

It is my sincere HOPE, That a full investigation into the Clear outside Manipulation of Cen Biotech is underway ! and that the source of these unquestionable Attacks on the company are brought to Swift justice. for all effected by it.!

Once more, I Have no suspicion or feeling that I have been mislead in any way by Mr. Bill Chaaban or any other Person(s) Of Cen Biotech. !

Thank You, for your time and efforts on this issue.

To whom it may concern,

It has come to my attention that the OSC is currently looking into CEN Biotech. While I respect your duty to investigate any circumstances that may seem warranted; I'd like to take this opportunity to bring to your attention the one-sided approach some media outlets and specifically author Grant Robertson has taken.

Since December 20th 2014, Grant Robertson has published 13 articles, equivalent to 1 every week. That seems like an unusually high amount and these articles have had a detrimental effect on the share price. While I respect the freedom of the press, this seems to be a little extreme and possibly a coordinated attack to negatively impact the company and its shareholders. Oddly enough, Grant Robertson seems to somehow be getting information from Health Canada before anyone else as evidenced by the leak of sensitive information to Grant Robertson. In all of Grant Robertson's articles he slanders the company and CEO Bill Chaaban, often making misleading statements and creating outright lies. In all of the articles I have read by Grant Robertson, he has yet to have one positive thing to say about the company. It has come to the point that I now expect a new bashing article by Grant Robertson every week, regurgitating the same misleading leading information over and over again to make the company look bad. It seems to be an attempt to attack the company and possibly manipulate the stock price. I have been a shareholder in this company for over a year. I have spent countless hours researching all aspects of the company including the application to Health Canada for a MMPR license, to the build out of the facility in Lakeshore, the Board of Directors established by CEO Bill Chaaban, and the inspection Health Canada made this past July. I am well aware that Mr. Chaaban has sold shares under SEC regulations (as Mr. Robertson brings up in all of his articles) to fund the company and I completely support that decision. Mr. Chaaban has been completely honest and transparent throughout the entire process and I stand behind him 100%.

If you truly want to investigate the company I encourage you to please look at all the other aspects that have tried to portray CEN Biotech in a negative light, from the town council of Lakeshore to Grant Robertson at the Globe and Mail. The town of Lakeshore willingly accepted Cen Biotech into their town and was proud to have them, which can evidently be seen in the welcoming press conference, only to try and retroactively change zoning of the property after the facility was already completed. Not only is that illegal, but it shows the complete flip-flopping from the town. The town council recently proposed a zoning by-law amendment in November, long after CEN Biotech's facility was already completed. The intended use of the facility has been well known for quite a while so it seems that CEN Biotech's facility should clearly have "legal non-conforming use" if the by-law even gets approved by the county.

As a shareholder in this company, I stand behind the actions of CEO Bill Chaaban and the entire company 100%. Mr. Chaaban has been completely transparent and honest throughout this entire process and that is why there are plenty of shareholders that support him and the company's actions. In your investigation I hope that you please look at all aspects of this situation with an unbiased approach.

Thank you for your time

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to you today as a current investor of Creative Edge Nutrition, ticker symbol FITX. My husband and I have been an invested in Creative Edge Nutrition since December 2013 and to date have not sold one share of FITX. My husband and I are in full support of the company, CEO and Board of Directors and its vision in current and future endeavors the company has shared with its stock holders over the last plus year.

It is my understanding that an investigation into Cen Biotech, a recently announced pending spin-off of Creative Edge Nutrition is currently underway within the Ontario Securities Commission (OSC). The reason I know this is because it was leaked through an article written by Grant Robertson via The Globe and Mail on March 27th, 2015. I am sure you can share my surprise of hearing this through a newspaper stating the source was the OSC and yet no official announcement came from the Ontario Securities Exchange or Cen Biotech. The OSC website had not been updated with the ongoing investigation notice. Later CBS Winsor News and Blackburn News ran the same story and again no official announcement from the OSC. This information just "Leaked" its way in a Globe and Mail article. In my opinion this does not represent, as quoted off the Ontario Securities Exchange web site,

"Work to protect investors and foster fair and efficient markets by making and monitoring compliance with rules governing the securities industry in Ontario"

It is my hope that you will use the above mentioned article and all previous articles the Grant Robertson has written at the Globe and Mail about Cen Biotech as an example and compare the timing of said articles in direct correlation with the FITX one year stock activity chart. I suspect the price per share of FITX on Monday's trading day will reflect this unofficial information released Friday, March 27th in a negative reflection.

Manipulation should not be tolerated and it is of my opinion that is just what is going on with Grant Robertson and others Im sure my fellow shareholders have brought to you attention.

I offer you best regards and look forward to a just, fair and unbiased investigation into Cen Biotech (FITX).

Good Morning,

Thank you for taking time out of your busy schedule to read my concerns. I am a shareholder in Cen Biotech/Creative Edge Nutrition Inc (stock symbol FITX). Lets just get straight to the point.

Cen Biotech submits their application to get a license. Health Canada (HC) comes back and says yes you are approved to build. Cen Biotech goes ahead and builds a multimillion dollar facility with state of the art security. HC requests Cen Biotech to hurry up and get the building done so they can do an inspection. Cen Biotech complies and spends extra money to get the building built quicker. Building is built, HC was notified, and then we wait 2-3 months for HC to finally come and do an inspection.

Inspection is completed, there were 2 minor deficiencies. The inspection document stated that when those 2 deficiencies are fixed there is no reason you should not obtain your license. Cen Biotech quickly fixes the 2 minor deficiencies and notifies HC. HC never responds to them. Why the lack of response? Cen Biotech was ready to fix anything they asked for and move the process along. Does HC have corrupt members who are either taking kickbacks from other Medical Marijuana (MMJ) companies? Or are invested in other MMJ companies? Kickbacks and corruption occurs everyday. I have seen it first hand. I know multiple people who were fired for taking kickbacks and that was out of a small pool of people.

Sometime around this time Lakeshore decides they all of a sudden aren't happy about Cen Biotech building a MMJ site in their town. Now lets go back a bit and point out Lakeshore was all for Cen Biotech back in late 2013 early 2014. The mayor was open arms, ready to bring in more revenue and jobs for their town. They allowed all the permits to be signed and processed for a MMJ facility to be built. Then out of the blue around Sept they started to act as if they didn't even know there was going to be a MMJ facility built and try to change zoning laws to stop Cen Biotech. This is also around the time HC stopped communicating with Cen Biotech. Odd, why would a town be all open arms and then out of the blue change their mind?

If you look at Grant Robertson, of the Globe and Mail, and his last 30 or so articles you will see about a year ago he was writing about oil. Then around August of 2014 he started writing about MMJ stocks. His first 3-4 articles about MMJ stocks were very generic in nature. He named various companies in his articles but none of those articles were specifically targeted towards any one company. Not only that they were semi-neutral articles never saying any negative things about any one company.

Then sometime late November or early December he started writing about Cen Biotech and ONLY Cen Biotech. Note, this was right in the heart of Cen Biotech's "silent period" due to announcing they planned a spinoff. His last 8-12 articles are ONLY about Cen Biotech. Not only that each and every one of them are direct attacks on Cen Biotech. Claiming things about multiple signatures, attempting to scare investors about Bill Chaaban (CEO

To whom it may concern,
I am a longtime, heavily invested shareholder of FITX/Cen Biotech.
I wholeheartedly believe in the vision and plan my company is striving to achieve.
Mr. Bill Chabban as well as everyone involved with this organization has conducted themselves with the utmost of honesty, integrity and transparency possible.
The actions of the town of Lakeshore, Health Canada and multiple media outlets have caused the company, myself and my fellow shareholders unnecessary and significant financial losses.
The attacks on Cen Biotech have been relentless, unwarranted and unjustified.
Our company has followed every protocol necessary to be granted a license under the MMPR, to Health Canada's exact specifications.
The manipulation and corruption Cen Biotech has been victim to is absurd, exaggerated and illegal.
I ask you to please take any and all steps necessary to resolve these attacks and bring those responsible to swift justice and allow Cen Biotech to be awarded the license they have so rightfully earned and deserve.

Thank You Kindly,

Creative Edge Nutrition

Tue, Mar 31, 2015 at 11:14 AM

Good Day!

I am a former member of the Canadian Armed Forces (1CER) and proud shareholder in Creative Edge Nutrition (OTC: FITX) and its subsidiary, CEN Biotech. I began investing in the company in September 2014 after visiting family and friends in my hometown of Lakeshore, Ontario. Unfortunately, I send this email with a concern on Creative Edge Nutrition's treatment from Health Canada specifically to its ongoing medical marijuana licensing issues. The company's treatment from local government, and now there is there is a clear bias in most news agencies news against the company, in what looks like an attempt to slander the company's name and reputation.

Since fall of 2014, Creative Edge Nutrition (CEN) has been in controversy with Health Canada. After being approved with a "read to build" letter, CEN built their facility on Manning Road and awaited an inspection from Health Canada. After the inspection CEN was supposed to have Health Canada's decision within weeks regarding the issuing of the license. Yet, weeks turned into months with no response, as other companies were inspected and licensed in that time. After Health Canada could delay no longer, CEN was denied their medical marijuana license. CEN then contested Health Canada's decision on their license denial, as per Health Canada's procedure, both parties were given a deadline to submit evidence for review. As the deadline approached, it appeared as if Health Canada had not submitted any evidence; therefore, CEN should have won the case by default. Shortly AFTER the deadline, CEN withdrew their appeal application and awaited the no-contest decision to be made. Health Canada then issued its evidence, causing CEN to withdraw their withdrawal, only to have Health Canada win the decision and again deny the company of their license.

The town of Lakeshore has been no better, with its Mayor, Tom Bain, continually flip-flopping on his position with CEN. Many news articles and videos are posted on the internet which have CEN CEO Bill Chabaan clearly explaining the company's intents to Lakeshore's city council and potential investors, with Tom Bain's acknowledgement and then supporting CEO Bill Chabaan. The township then issued CEN a "ready to build" letter. The township is now trying to rezone the build, AFTER it had issued the "ready to build" permit, and change other technicalities to deal they had previously made. There are a good handful of interviews with Lakeshore council members, both in written and video format, that confirm this. Including one of Mayor Tom Bain acknowledging the size of the building and its intended staff and later saying he had no idea it was going to be that big of an operation.

Lastly, many news corporations have been publishing solely negative articles. The Globe and Mail's Grant Robertson seems to only want to write about Creative Edge Nutrition and its short comings, excluding all other positive news regarding the company's other products, such as work out supplements and its future energy drink line, "Giddy Up". There are also journalists posting on twitter and other social media sites about how they are looking forward to drop the price of the stock with their comments, and that we, the investors, are getting what we deserve.

Creative Edge Nutrition, CEN Biotics, nor their investors deserve this treatment from the Federal and Municipal Government, nor the slander from many news outlets. I hope that in you reading this, you can help this company by investigating this matter fairly and revealing the truth in what is happening.

Thank you for your time.

Hello, My name is

As a first time investor I was really excited about the new opportunities with Medical Grade cannabis. During my research I came upon a company that really wanted to help sick individuals as well as making other medical products (CenBiotech/Creative Edge Nutrition). In all my years I have never seen such vicious attacks by paid bashers to reduce this company to virtually nothing, even Health Canada which was key for our success had fallen for the false statements made by paid bashers. It was really shocking that a company that has committed no crimes was the victim of a smear campaign. In short Health Canada is solely responsible for destroying a company that was going to produce high quality medicine and jobs for the community, all by engaging in hearsay and making decisions on false fabricated stories. I urge you to look into this matter.

Thank You!

Ontario Securities Commissions
Senior Officer
Re: Creative Edge Nutrition / Cen Biotech

Date: March 29, 2015

To whom it may concern

It has been brought to my attention that Creative Edge Nutrition / Cen Biotech is under investigation by the SEC in conjunction with the OSC (Ontario Securities Commission). Please be advised that I am a shareholder of the above mentioned company and am deeply concerned that both security commissions have chosen to investigate this organization once again as the investigation appears to be misdirected.

Prior to investing, I have dedicated many hours of research and stay current on all issues pertaining to the company. Please note; I have reviewed Health Canada website pertaining to the licensing process. I have read all versions of the Lakeshore MMPR City by-laws. I have read the entire MMPR consolidated guidelines. I have read the Canada's Controlled Drug Act. I have read all press releases issued by the company. I have reviewed all company financial statements issued within the past year. I have read nearly every article published about the company. I have reviewed profile information regarding the CEO and officers involved with this company. I have read the facility inspection by health Canada. I have had dialog with an MMPR consultant. Therefore, I am comfortable with my due diligence conducted regarding Creative Edge Nutrition / Cen Biotech. As a result, I can make my next statement with personal certainty. Creative Edge Nutrition / Cen biotech has in no way misled me regarding my decision to purchase the stock.

Health Canada's MMPR licensing process is very extensive with much focus on the security of the facility as well as the personnel of the company. Cen Biotech elected to go a step further by applying for its license to build prior to beginning construction of the facility. Additionally, Cen Biotech applied for an import / export license, decided to enhance the property security measures and provided Health Canada with a comprehensive 900 page application. My understanding is that the typical application size at the time was half the size. All of these steps solidified my decision to invest.

A company applying to become a license producer in Canada cannot have executives and staff with a criminal record. Although Cen Biotech has convincingly cleared that requirement, the company and its President have been separately investigated by FINRA, the SEC, OSC, Health Canada, and RCMP multiple times. I do not know of any other company that has been scrutinized to this level, especially when no adverse evidence has surfaced.

Since the announcement to enter the Cannabis industry in 2013 up until the completion and inspection of the facility, both the media and the town of Lakeshore publically supported the company. This again influenced my decision to invest. Shortly after the facility inspection and the report review was conducted in August 2014, it appears that a media campaign was initiated to discredit Cen Biotech. Many articles contained distorted facts about the company, dramatized issues, misinformation and even completely misrepresented facts regarding various subject matters. Investors that conducted thorough due diligence could see through the many attempts. Unfortunately, there were and are many investors that don't know all the facts and are adversely influenced by these articles. It is clear that the stock price fluctuation is a direct result from the articles written by publishers such as the Globe and Mail, the Windsor Star, Hot stock and others. Below are just some of the reoccurring issues that to the informed investor, present NO ISSUES.

- 1) The CEO multiple signatures: it is legal and in fact, through my own research, other documents were discovered signed by the CEO using varying signature types. Additionally; a) the original document in

- question was benign b) it would be an issue if the occurrence was new with no history c) who was the CEO attempting to defraud d) again, it is legal
- 2) The Company making a statement that it had a relationship with the Health Minister: To this day, I cannot find any public record of any such assertion by Cen Biotech. In fact, the first I heard of the alleged relationship (or exploitation of), was through a Globe and Mail article. The following appears to conflict; a) Roger Glasel, the individual with the alleged relationship was not known to shareholders until after the Globe and Mail broke the news b) There is no published evidence regarding the relationship other than the Globe and Mail report.
 - 3) The CEO selling shares by pumping the news of the license: This is absolutely FALSE. Please review all press releases by Cen Biotech. Many of the PRs have NO SAFE HARBOR DISCLAIMER as they dealt with specific factual matters. All press releases prior to the inspection dealt with the inspection time frame , not licensure. The company has never made any statements regarding receipt of an HC license. I have spoken with an MMPR consultant who confirmed that if an inspection has no deficiencies, the license is eminent. However, Cen Biotech made no such claim. Ironically, the Globe and Mail published many articles stating that the company was in the final stages of its licensure. Lastly, the CEO has every right to sell shares. It must be disclosed and it is legal. Once again, it appears that the media is attempting to create fear by dramatizing this matter.

It is great to see that the various commissions are seeking to protect investors by investigating perpetrators in the stock market. However, it appears that Cen Biotech has been investigated enough. The company has done nothing wrong. As a shareholder, I feel more threatened by the 20 plus negative articles published by the Globe and Mail and others distorting and misrepresenting the facts. The result is devaluation of the company stock and a possible license rejection by Health Canada. All based on misinformation by the media ... to the public.

Please focus your attention on not only these organizations but most importantly... the insidious entity behind them.

Feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Best,

of Cen Biotech) selling shares (which we all know companies can't run on peanuts), and recently trying to connect Bill to insider trading. It was public knowledge that Health Canada was going to refuse our license in 20 days. It was pretty obvious Health Canada was going to reject us since the 20 days were up. Doesn't take a rocket scientist to see that coming.

Grant Robertson got insider information from HC about the letter of intent to reject. He got the information and posted it on Feb 14th, days before Cen Biotech even received the letter. Why is HC leaking private information to media outlets before they even notify companies about that information? And why the Globe and Mail out of all media outlets? No other media outlets knew about it. What kind of connections are there between HC and Globe and Mail? Why did HC contact the biggest bashing news media about this letter but no other news media?

Grant Robertson quotes Matt Finston in at least one of his articles. Matt Finston is a known basher of Cen Biotech and has tweeted multiple times that he wants to short (may even have shorted) Cen Biotech. Why is Matt Finston so interested/worried about the Cen Biotech stock if he has no connection to the stock. He constantly bashes Cen Biotech, and he is somehow connected to Grant Robertson. I can almost guarantee he himself has shorted Cen Biotech or he has some friends/family members that have. Why would someone go through such HUGE efforts to bash a company they have no interest in? There is no point, unless he is getting something out of it. Either way there is something fishy about how he is involved and why he has such an agenda against Cen Biotech.

I have always felt that Mr Chabaan and Cen Biotech have been transparent and honest to me and the other shareholders. Once again thank you for your time. Good luck bringing any and all illegal parties to justice.

Concerned Investor,

To whom it may concern;

I have been a shareholder of Cen-Bio since February of 2014. I have not sold a single share. I did research on this company and decided that it was a wonderful company to invest in. One of the things that convinced me to invest in FITX was the welcome that was given by the Town of Lakeshore Mayor Bain. I watched the video press release of Mayor Bain welcoming this company. Health Canada also convinced me to invest as they were eager to get Cen-Bio to build and produce medical marijuana for patients who desperately need it. A state of the art facility was built after proper permits, and inspected. I feel that all press releases by Cen-Bio were trustworthy and forthcoming. The company always kept everyone in the loop with the progress. Bill Chaaban never misled anyone and I have full confidence in him in succeeding in developing any company.

Unfortunately there are a group of people who do not want this company to succeed! Many negative articles came out causing the stock to fall drastically and also to be manipulated. Most of this was due to the Globe and Mail and Grant Robertson. There are also other individuals who have spent relentless time and effort to make sure that this company was not granted a license. Why would they want this company to fail? Why would you constantly print negative article after article if this was such a bad company? Let them fail on their own! Why would you sit on different stock boards and blogs, day after day and put negative comments? Someone is paying these people off?

The attacks on Cen-Bio continued with inside information from Health Canada and the Town of Lakeshore.

I believe that all of these dishonest acts have caused a direct manipulation of this companies value and their not receiving a license. Someone is behind all this! Please look at the facts and truths. There has been an illegal collusion by many individuals. These individuals should be brought to justice!

Cen-Bio followed each and every rule that they were requested to follow. No one from Cen-Bio ever mis-led anyone! I hope a thorough investigation is performed. I hope that justice will be served.

Thank you for your time and concern.

To whom it may concern,

I am a share holder of Creative Edge Nutrition (OTC: FITX) and am writing this letter due to the corruption I feel is taking place against this particular company with regards to their subsidiary company Cen Biotech. I have been an investor in this fantastic startup company since the Feb 2014. CEN Biotech, a wholly owned subsidiary of Creative Edge Nutrition has being transparent about their business plan and has put together a well rounded and diverse board of directors to help execute their business plan. Their business plan was not only to apply under the MMPR program with Health Canada (HC) to become one of the licensed producer of quality standard medical marijuana (MMJ) for patients but also to invest in MMJ research and development.

I sought out any and all information we could about Creative Edge and Cen Biotech, the Town of Lakeshore and Health Canada's MMPR program. I was impressed with the Town of Lakeshores' Mayor Bain welcoming of CEN at the press event held by the Essex Windsor Growth and Development Council. Seeing the support of everyone at this public event solidified our confidence in adding to our investment. Also seeing that the zoning for CEN was approved with the subsequent issuing of their building permit also added the confidence that we needed to continue to invest. I was impressed as I followed the build-out of CEN's new facility and their press releases. I continued to add to my investment as I patiently watched the building in Lakeshore and the eventual acquisition of the additional property

After building completion, I patiently waited for months for the arrival of Health Canada's inspectors. There were a few minor omission or errors that were immediately corrected by CEN and Health Canada indicated a license was to follow. In the meantime the Town of Lakeshore officials appeared to be confused and uninformed or perhaps forgetful and began questioning the zoning of this property. The Town of Lakeshore passed a resolution to send a letter to Health Canada regarding the issuance of a license to CEN. This is in direct contradiction to their issuance of a permit to build a facility to grow medical marijuana. This was followed by leaked news by someone in Health Canada that CEN would not receive a license with the subsequent receipt of a letter of license denial by Health Canada.

To sum it up, CEN was welcomed by the Town of Lakeshore, followed the regulations to build based on the laws of Health Canada and built in a timely manner and according to regulations. Then there were the various media outlets that published negative articles without documented sources, slandering and bashing CEN. Add to that the previously welcoming Town of Lakeshore, now acting confused and forgetful, issuing a letter to Health Canada asking them to deny CEN their license, followed by the denial of a license by Health Canada for no stated reason

Please look into this matter to protect any and all shareholders as well as Cen Biotech and any other future companies looking to become LP's in the MMPR program.

Thanks for your time,

To Whom It May Concern:

Hello -

I am a current shareholder of Creative Edge Nutrition (Pink: FITX). For the purpose of this message, I will refer to Creative Edge Nutrition as "Creative" and CEN BIOTech as "CEN".

A wholly owned subsidiary of Creative is a company located in Canada called CEN BIOTech. CEN has been under an unfathomable attack by groups and individuals who do not want CEN to succeed in the field of medical marijuana under Canada's MMPR program.

I'm writing because I saw another investor of Creative receive word from the OSC that writing a letter in support of Creative and to include to SEC would help assist in the case.

To summarize, CEN was developed as there was a need for a quality license producers for medical marijuana. CEN was reached out to by the city of Lakeshore to build their facility there. Lakeshore gave approval and signed the permits. Health Canada reached out to CEN to expedite the build of the facility so CEN spent extra money to get the facility built as soon as possible. Lakeshore signed off on all the permits and knew fully what CEN was about. Please see the video of Mayor Tom Bain welcoming CEN: CEN BIOTech:
<https://vimeo.com/83685127>

The facility was completed, Health Canada was notified. Health Canada is on record of stating once facility passes inspection, license will be granted within 2 weeks.

It took Health Canada 3 months to inspect the facility after they were notified it was ready. When the inspection finally occurred, only 2 minor discrepancies were found. The discrepancies were promptly fixed and proof was sent it. For a 14 million dollar facility and a 900 page application, 2 minor discrepancies is something to praise about.

Well, Health Canada never came back to inspect nor provided CEN their MMPR license. During this same time, Mayor Bain and town council started to backtrack on the CEN facility, and re-zoned the property which then deliberately put CEN against Health Canada guidelines.

See video that summarizes the scandal:

Canagate Video from November 2014: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SL7CbiPklrU>

With Health Canada delaying the inspection, a select group of individuals started writing negative articles about the CEO (Mr. Bill Chabaan) and CEN. Some have even posted racial comments against the CEO. Matt Finston, Cris Parry and Alan Brochstein are the main people who started the initial false allegations against CEN and it's CEO. It should be known that Brochstein started his bashing against CEN because CEN refused to pay him to pump the stock. Parry makes money by "advertisers" that tell him to praise or ridicule a stock, weather he believes in it or not. Regarding Finston; there were screen shots of Finston posting racial comments against Mr. Chabann. I do not have the screen shots and Finston has since deleted these comments from his various accounts so I'm not able to find. Finston is also very open of his short selling of the stock, so it makes sense for him to write false allegations to drop the share price. Finston has gotten away with this since he writes for Seeking Alpha and Seeking Alpha does not allow positive articles about CEN; only negative ones.

In the fall of 2014 is when Grant Robertson of the Globe and Mail started writing many, many negative articles about CEN and its CEO. I believe the articles that Robertson has written can be tied to Finston, Parry and Brochstein. In fact, Robertson has quoted Finston and has him as a main source in some of his articles. And, in a recent article, it was brought to my attention that Robertson cited Finston, only to remove Finston shortly after publishing.

The articles are mainly the same negative, false allegations that have already been written, just worded differently. If you take a look at Robertson's article history, you can see he is obsessed with the demise of CEN, with no regard to any of the other applicants to be a license producer under the MMPR or any of current LP's who have been in violation of the MMPR program. It is also interesting how Robertson published an article on February 13th stating CEN was sent a letter to reject it's application, when CEN didn't even get such letter or noticed days later. Then on February 14th, after it was confirmed Health Canada had leaked the information the day before, Robertson retracted his publishing date to the 14th.

I'm not sure why the OSC is investigating CEN; but I would like to believe if there is a government agency that can't be bought or corrupted, it would be the OSC. And, I would like to believe that a complete investigation of CEN would also lead to a complete investigation of Tom Bain, Lakeshore Town Council, Health Canada, Grant Robertson, Cris Parry, Alan Brochstein and Matt Finston. If the investigation doesn't lead to these individuals and groups, then it would be an injustice to CEN.

To close, the delay from Health Canada to inspect the facility and Tom Bain and his council re-zoning the property after it has already been built, has caused major decrease in my investment with FITX. Bopth Health Canada and Lakeshore reached out to CEN to have the facility built. Now, for both of the government parties to deny CEN tells me that someone may have corrupted certain individuals so CEN does not get a licence from Health Canada. CEN has the largest application submitted to Health Canada, and I believe one of the current license producers has connections to Health Canada and Lakeshore to prevent CEN from obtaining such a license.

All I'm asking for is a fair investigation. If you are investigating CEN because of the negative press, specifically the Robertson articles, please take into account Health Canada leaking information to him; Robertson's sources, the fact Health Canada and Lakeshore turned their back on CEN with no explanation given after fully reaching out to then to build the facility, and the Globe and Mail not allowing Mr. Chabaan to rebuttal all the false allegations that Mr. Robertson has written. You would think a respectable news outlet would give press to a CEO who has come under such violent attack.

CEN was started to produce medical marijuana for patience who need an alternative to prescribed prescription that do not work as well and are addicting, as well as research the benefits of the entire cannabis family. Where is the harm in this? All this leads me to believe someone or a group of people or business's do not want CEN to succeed because it would then hurt their financial welfare with increased competition for the marketplace.

Thank you for your time and I look forward to your responses.
Best -

To whom it may concern,

Good day to you. I, _____, a shareholder with cenbio/creative edge nutrition write you this letter to express my thoughts on the witch hunt to have my company fail. First, a little on how I got here. I am of the lower end of the middle class society. I am a blue collar worker with a wife and kids an work like a dog to squeak by. I am a LAW ABIDING Citizen, I pay my taxes, and believe in a higher power. Back late 2012 early 2013 and with much discussion with wife we put some funds together to invest in a industry I have felt for many years was needed and going to happen in regards to medical marijuana. During the time of putting funds together I was looking into finding a company. I spotted what I knew as fitx and it was under a penny, as I accumulated the funds I followed the company and became very intrigued and excited, I enjoyed how transparent the company was, keeping shareholders updated on progress in tum shareholder value increased. Finally around the 10 cent mark I had my cash and invested. Shortly afterward, the value of my investment was declining. So with wondering why, when in the very limited spare time I had I started to investigate for more information. It was at that time early 2014 I started to find articles written in seeking alpha that were negative and did not correspond to what I knew about company. As time as proceeded to today, articles and news from various outlets have continued to twist stories and truth into negatives. Also during this time I found and joined the company shareholders Facebook group (thank God) . the people in this group (over 2000) from all walks of life middle class honest people are amazing and have greatly helped me obtain the clear vision that when you put all the FACTS together there is a entity that has taken to criminal acts to stop my company from trying to HELP people get healthy and succeed honestly. In closing, I know you will receive many letters with all the FACTS to prove our concerns and ask that you honestly and morally uphold the laws that exist to prevent con men and theives from ruining peoples lives. I greatly appreciate the time you have taken to read my thoughts.

Thank you,

CSO investigation into Cenbiotech

I am writing this in regards to one of my investments. I have been an investor in CENBIOTECH, ticker symbol FITX since Feb 16, 2014. I have added to my position on more than a few occasions. I am presently Long the equity and will continue to add to my position, as I truly believe in the medical benefits of MMJ and the Vision of CENBIOTECH. My concern arises from recent events where I feel the company I have invested in has been under attack by the Globe and Mail, message boards, writers at Seeking Alpha and in my opinion other Companies that either have or are seeking a license from Health Canada.

I respectfully ask the CSO to look into one Company in particular, Tilray. I believe that when investigated, you will find them to be behind a campaign to discredit FITX, the company that I am invested in. Their ties with Libby Davis is what concerns me and why I feel Tilray has a lot to do with what has and continues to happen with the attacks against CENBIOTECH. I have invested in stocks for over 25 years and never in my life have I seen such a coordinated attack on a company. Many articles have been written with no proof whatsoever attacking CENBIOTECH.

I look forward to hearing back from the CSO. I look forward to the CSO investigating all aspects of what has been going on surrounding my investment.

To whom it may concern:

My husband and I have been shareholders in the revolutionary company CenBiotec(FITX) for two years. We have invested in many companies over the years and get very involved in our own research to support our investments. In 30 years we have never, ever witnessed the vulgar manipulation of a company directed at the CEO, the BOD and the shareholders. The actions (which are recorded) of the Lakeshore council, Mayor, news print (globe and others), television media, yahoo message boards, and of course the Canadian Health officials has been destructive at best. The articles written by Mr Grant Robertson are nothing short of atrocious, deceitful, embarrassing and always out of context. We are 100% behind this company and all they have done and will do in the future. We are a close knit group of investors who stay involved and informed and love this company. Feel free to contact any the investors who I'm sure have written similar letters if you would like to review the trail of documents to support the facts that CenBiotec is real and solid. The ongoing attempts of some to destroy the reputation of this company with lies and fabrication must cease immediately.

We thank you in advance for your support and consideration of this matter.

CEN Biotech letter

1 message

Sun, Mar 29, 2015 at 5:06 PM

To: admin@cenbiotechinc.com, editor@mmj.today

To Whom it May Concern;

As a shareholder in FITX, Creative Edge Nutrition – Cen Biotech I would like to express my opinion in light of the OSC's investigation into this company.

Firstly, I'd like to start by stating the decision to become a shareholder was through my own due diligence. I purchased my first Fitx shares one year ago, yesterday, March 28, 2014. This was after several weeks of looking into the company. I have since added to my initial investment several times over the course of this year as I have dug deeper and have learned all I could about Fitx/ Cen Biotech. Much of the official documentation, company history, etc. was shared and discussed in a couple of investment groups I had joined and continue to participate in. I have also left others due to the barrage of hate, bullying of investors who own FITX, and outright lies made against the company. At first they concerned me.. but it only served to push me into seeking fact over hear say and I have not been disappointed.

To the best of my ability, I believe I have viewed most if not all valid and official information available. Lakeshore council meetings, press releases, interviews and all other information concerning Creative Edge Nutrition and subsequently and especially, Cen Biotech.

This public and recorded press event held on Jan.07, 2014 by the Essex Windsor Growth & Development Council was one of many pieces of information that provided me with the assurance I needed a new comer to investing, to choose this company. (<https://vimeo.com/83685127>)

Surely there should be a level of trust placed in the words and actions made by the Mayor of Lakeshore, Tom Bain, when he welcomed the company Cen Biotech with such enthusiasm. I agreed with his foresight and hopes of seeing this industry take off and its potential for the public he works for. His recorded public comment about looking forward to working with Bill Chaaban the CEO of Cen Biotech, is something that inspired my confidence and thus I continued to invest more of my hard earned money into FITX.

From everything I have read and viewed via copies of official records, PR's, and from becoming familiar with the guidelines set by Health Canada and MMPR, I am secure in my opinion that Cen Biotech has gone above and beyond recommendations and has obeyed all laws required to reach its goal of licensure. The fact that the CEO has been as transparent as he could possibly be has been an added benefit. The incredible bio's of the future board of directors is inspiring and exciting. Such talent not only insures success for all goals to be lawfully reached but the potential for research and development of its product is staggering! This is why I have invested in this company. Its overwhelming potential and talent to create a business in this very important field of cannabis. The benefits are global.

Cen Biotech submitted the 900 page application to Health Canada, received the official ready to build documentation to proceed. Which it did while following every law and code. In April, 2014 the company officially informed Health Canada it and the building was ready for its pre-licensing inspection.

It took four months, and at the end of July, 2015 we learned the inspection was finally completed. Two minor corrections had to be taken care of, (and were immediately) and once done the inspector reported the company was ready to receive license and to proceed with operations.

Public and investor confidence showed in FITX's positive and growing stock price, until the time period of those 4 months. That delay gave an opening for those who opposed, be it out of fear, greed, jealousy, political agendas, etc. to begin a nasty negative media campaign to discredit, cause doubt and panic among investors and the public.

One can't help but think of political agenda, given the way Mayor Bain and the Lakeshore council made a complete turn around. Going from Welcoming and encouraging Cen Biotech to call Lakeshore home to suddenly changing zoning bylaws (in Nov., many months after saying zoning was correct before build began!) Even ignoring their own town planner, and throwing roadblocks to stall with intent to discredit Bill Chaaban and Cen Biotech. The Lakeshore council, in my eyes are one of the ones responsible for the falling PPS of this stock.

Then we have the Globe & Mail. As well as Grant Robertson. I suggest an investigation into why dozens of articles were written and published in a blatantly biased and negative way, as truth. Any of us who have done due diligence can see the injustice the Globe and Mail and Mr. Robertson. It is easy for one who keeps half an eye on the PPS to feel Grant Robertson has intentionally been manipulating the stock price through his repeated publications about the company. Its alarming how the Globe & Mail seems to get just enough info (before anyone else) to throw out an article with a biased, negative spin at the most opportunistic times.. causing a sell off after a few days rise in price.

In my opinion, this reeks of unlawful behavior and is a major contributing cause of Cen Biotech's falling pps, and its fight to now focus on saving itself instead of what it's intentions are and should be.. saving people.

The above reasons have caused this companies stock to seriously fall. Resulting in many facing a large loss in their investment. Unjustly placing their anger the company. These are the ones also feeding into the unjust treatment of Cen Biotech and Bill Chaaban. As ceo, he as well as some of the Board of Directors have become targets of hate crimes such as threats of bodily harm and worse. They (commonly known as bashers) roam any and all stock boards, under ever changing names, posting erroneous statements and twisted lies. While many posts stating or showing official details to prove truth have been deleted and those posters banned from the sites so they can not discredit the basher comments. (I know.. I have had some of mine deleted.) All for what feels like a paid effort to cause fear in potential investors and to damage Cen Biotech and its Board. An investigation into many of those individuals would not be a bad idea either. I wish you would. Start with Ihub.

This has been an ongoing issue for a year! It has taken all this time for Health Canada to finally respond to the pending license, as denied. Without giving reason. This company unlike any other that I have seen has been put under an unfair amount of scrutiny and accused falsely of ongoing wrong doing for far too long. Bill Chaaban has said, Come look under the hood. We have nothing to hide. He has held open houses.. been as transparent as possible and is well aware Cen Biotech is a ground breaking pioneer in the cannabis field. I, as a proud shareholder stand behind him and believe in his determination and integrity to this company and its shareholders.

Someone(s) is abusing the system to suit their own pocket and they should be found and held accountable.

I should also state, not once have I felt misled, lied to, or been given false information by Bill Chaaban, Creative Edge Nutrition, Cen Biotech or any others affiliated with it. While I wish this investigation would not have had to happen, I am glad now, and have every confidence you will find Cen Biotech to be true to its word and to its shareholders. Most importantly to the patients he is fighting for. I believe that justice will prevail.

Thank you for your time and for reading my opinion on this matter.

To Whom it may concern,

As a Police Officer in the State of Tennessee for the past 37 years, I write to you to request your immediate attention to a situation that I and hundreds of other shareholders find ourselves in. I am a retail investor in Creative Edge Nutrition. After much research into the Company, I first invested in the January 2014 when the Company, the Town of Lakeshore, Ont. and the Essex Windsor Growth & Development Council held a press conference to announce that Cen Biotech, a subsidiary of Creative Edge Nutrition, had applied to Health Canada, and received a "ready to build" letter to build a state of the art facility to produce Medical Marijuana for the patient in Canada.

Cen Biotech then proceeded to put together a world class Board of Directors. The CEO worked diligently to keep the shareholders informed. I could not have been happier with my investment then or now.

In the last 6 to 8 months there have been, what seems to be a coordinated attack on the company, the CEO and some of its shareholders. As an example, a reporter, Grant Robertson from the Globe and Mail has reported constantly on the company with half truths and twisting what the CEO has said publically. He has reported that the CEO has made announcement with the intent of causing the share price to rise so he could sell shares. As we recently saw in the evidence that was submitted with the Application for Judicial Review filed by the company against Health Canada, all the statements made by the CEO, were indeed, true statements and I believe he has done nothing wrong. Mr. Robertson appears to be intentionally trying to destroy the company. Mr. Robertson has reported statements from officials from Health Canada, when it is against the policy of Health Canada to discuss any activity concerning the applicants. Even a statement that Health Canada is reviewing Cen Biotech's application, gets reported that the Company is being investigated. I think he is also twisting the words of Health Canada knowing that they can not go public to disagree with his statements, since it is against their policy to comment on applicants.

He has now reported that the OSC is investigating the company as a result of, I believe, mis-information being released by those wishing to prevent Cen Biotech from receiving a license from Health Canada.

It is my hope, that if you do indeed have an open investigation, that you also look into the message boards, the Globe and Mail, and those who are working daily trying to destroy the company and manipulate the stock for their own financial gains. If your intent is to truly protect the investing public, this should be one of the things you look at. I have watched the trading activity of the stock daily and it is evident that the stock is one of the most manipulated stocks on the market.

Thank you for your time in reading this letter, as I know you have probably received many for different shareholders. I would like to make it clear to you that I, as a shareholder, do not feel that the Company has done anything wrong and has at all times followed the laws of Canada.

Respectfully,

To Whom It May Concern:

I understand the OSC opened an investigation into the operations of Cen Biotech, US ticker symbol FITX. I have been a shareholder since January of 2014 and would like share my thoughts and opinions regarding this issue.

In the 15 months that I have been a shareholder I have purchased more of the stock every two weeks like clockwork, which should speak to my confidence in Mr. Bill Chaaban and Cen Biotech Inc. I have also invested endless hours in supporting and protecting my investment against a most ruthless and immoral attack upon Cen Biotech Inc and it's CEO Mr. Bill Chaaban. Because I have been so vocal in my defense I too have become a target of those who are hired to cyber bully, libel, and slander anyone in the FITX camp they see fit. These attacks come from faceless and nameless people using iHub (investorhub.com) the Yahoo Finance FITX message board and Investors Hangout (investorshangout.com/). Here is an example of a message posted to me just yesterday in the investors hangout:

Sent On: 03/28/2015 12:09:44 PM Sent By: . if anyone deserved to have to bury their children, its you. God called him home? LMAO. Maybe he was sending you a fucking message dumbass.

As you can see by this example there is a no holds barred to the depravity these paid character assassins are willing to stoop to. The above comment is referring to my son who drowned learning to surf in 2006.

Furthermore, there are self described "Stock Guru's" that are also being motivated to attack Cen Biotech Inc and Bill Chaaban from their Online Bully Pulpits. These fortune hunters are paid-per-view for each unique IP address that visits their "articles". Specifically Matt Finston who is a contributing writer for Seeking Alpha. (You can view his endless writings on FITX here: <http://seekingalpha.com/author/matthew-finston/articles/symbol/>) and Chris Parry who is a contributing writer for Stockhouse. (You can view his writings here: <http://www.stockhouse.com/columnists/chris-parry>)

I believe both of the above writers tapped into the fact that writing hit pieces on FITX and it's CEO garnered many 1000's more views then writing positive pieces. Remember views = $$$$ for them. I also believe they lied so much they began to believe their own ramblings and were celebrated by the paid cyber bullies who lauded them with praise and began to work with them to conceive and disseminate lies and misinformation. I also believe you will find another connection to the worst offender of libel in this case which is a Mr. Grant Robertson of the Canadian National Syndicated Globe and Mail News. His writings of Cen Biotech can be seen here: <http://www.theglobeandmail.com/search/?q=GRANT+ROBERTSON>

It's no coincidence in my opinion that Mr. Robertson's continuous pummeling of Cen Biotech Inc often includes his source as one Matt Finston. Though I think it fortuitous that Robertson was introduced to Finston to be fed usable fodder, I strongly believe Robertson is acting on behalf of the Liberal Party Agenda to bring down the MMPR program and/or is being compensated in some form by one or more of the existing Licensed Producers of Medical Marijuana in Canada.

In closing I'd like to implore the OSC to widen its scope of investigation to the very real idea of a conspiracy to defame and defraud Cen Biotech Inc. As a direct and daily victim of the ugly visceral coordinated attack I can assure you it's real!

Thank you for your time,

OSC investigation of Cen Biotech

To whom it may concern,

I am at least a one year investor Cen Biotech. I see now we are being investigated by OSC this concerns me as a shareholder. I've been reading and paying attention to this company all along and have seen nothing inappropriate or illegal from my point of view. I have opened from scratch 3 businesses in Florida and I would have never been able to accomplish this with this much scrutiny from outside sources. Particularly The Globe and Mail, numerous online sources Yahoo, investors hub, etc. They have been making statements that I can see with my own eyes are not true.

Bill Chaaban as CEO has kept the shareholders informed unlike many other Stocks out there. This is one big reason I chose to invest in this company because of their transparency. I watched the company break ground and erect buildings, put up fences and meet with the Mayor of Lakeshore. At the lakeshore press conferences they welcomed us in and then turn their backs on us months later. I find this dishonest and immoral. I actually witnessed Mayor Bain say to a news reporter he had no idea what they were building in Lakeshore. And this is 6 months after I seen him at a press conference welcoming us into Lakeshore.

I also heard the Lakeshore town council meeting November 12 2013 (8i) <http://lakeshoreon.swagit.com/play/11122013-737> where they discuss Cen Bio and their intentions for 4 mins before the building permits was issued. I see clear manipulation by what's going on here in lakeshore. Then after the building has been constructed they decide to change the zoning and write a letter to Health Canada to postpone our MMJ license.

As far as Health Canada goes I understand some of this is political but this has gone above and beyond that. Health Canada has been in touch with Cen Biotech all along in the beginning, issued us a letter to build, they even asked us to accelerate the process which was done. The shareholders have been waiting now since Aug 2014 for a license to be issued after passing inspection with only 2 issues that were quickly corrected. And now have been waiting in limbo with no contact and nothing but negative press from numerous sources and particularly the Globe and Mail. How were they getting information before Cen Bio and all the shareholders? It seems like clear manipulation and someone has an agenda. We have a stellar Board of Directors, the BOD's alone would lead most people to invest in this company. Nobody welcomes an investigation but if that's what it takes to clear up all of these misconceptions about Cen Bio then I must welcome it and I hope as a shareholder that you come to see what I have seen in this company and Bill Chaaban.

Sincerely,
Concerned shareholder

Same Company 2nd Recall. Where is the QUALITY?

When Health Canada recalled chicken from Lilydale, a standard procedure was in place. Consumers were notified, a web page was devoted to the recall, and the public was told exactly what the recall was over: listeria monocytogenes. Health Canada even named the specific brand – the Lilydale brand Over Roasted Carved Chicken Breast – with the expiry date of April 28th. In this case, Health Canada did exactly what you'd expect them to do. But when Tilray, a Licenced Producer of medical cannabis, recalled one of their products, the response from Health Canada was quite different.

Health Canada representatives refused to answer some basic facts about the recall. What type of bacteria was found? How much was present? How could it have gotten in to the product? This is the complete opposite response one would expect from a public agency that – supposedly – has the public interest as a priority. Can you imagine if Lilydale had recalled their chicken, but then Health Canada refused to give details? And it's not merely a matter of not providing sufficient information. We contacted Health Canada specifically about this recall and they refused to give us any detailed answers.

And if this isn't odd enough, consider that in the case of Tilray's contaminated product, Health Canada did the testing themselves! Usually, as in the case of the Lilydale chicken breast, the company does the testing and orders the recall. After all, if a private company gets its customers sick, they could face bankruptcy. It is in the interest of Lilydale (or whoever) to catch a contaminated product before it reaches the market. But since humans err, Health Canada is there to act as a regulator of last resort. With medical cannabis, however, the situation is a little different and it is Health Canada who performed the test on Tilray's product. There is a large difference between two times the legal limit and a thousand times the legal limit but Health Canada would not disclose how much over the limit the bacteria was, or even what kind of bacteria it was.

It is only through a media spokesperson from Tilray, via The Canadian Press, that we learned that the bacterium was enterobacter, but no word on how it got there. Health Canada doesn't actively engage with private companies over product testing. In this case we don't know if Health Canada followed up with Tilray to ensure that they, Tilray, were not misleading or downplaying the risks associated with their contaminated product. When pressed, Health Canada representatives amazingly stated that the bureau doesn't need that kind of information. They don't need to know what type of bacteria was present and in what amounts.

Furthermore, Health Canada officials feel the public doesn't need to know the details of this recall. Their rationale was that the "data" wouldn't make any sense to an uninformed observer. You can imagine public response to such an attitude if this was approach taken with contaminated chicken. Apparently the public is equipped to understand the dangers of listeria, salmonella and E. coli, but not enterobacter.

BREAK DOWN FOR YOU.: Enterobacteriaceae are normally found in soil and faeces. The presence of these bacteria indicates an inappropriate handling of the product as the right hygiene measures haven't been applied. The use of organic fertilisers of animal origin that have been wrongly composted also imply a risk of contamination. Some of these enterobacteriaceae which can be present in Cannabis are E.coli and Salmonella. The way to get in contact with these microorganisms, unlike what happens with fungi, is in the process of making the cigarette. When someone touches a contaminated sample with their fingers and then touches food or brings their fingers to their mouth, the contaminating microorganisms could enter the body.

To Whom It May Concern:

I understand that your office is currently investigating Cen Biotech (FITX). I would like to officially voice my experience as an investor in this company. Please contact me personally should you have any questions. To preface, I have a bachelor of science degree in economics and finance and have been a licensed, practicing attorney in Pennsylvania as well being admitted to practice in U.S. federal court. I have personally litigated cases of consumer protection law, anti-trust law, and have conducted numerous fraud investigations for banking/lending institutions. I mention this background as I consider myself to be very savvy when making business decisions and have spent much of my professional career detecting behavior that is not above board. With all of this in mind I have personally found Cen Biotech to have been a 100% forthright in all of their dealings with me as an investor. I initially invested in this company when my research uncovered that they had made it to the stage of licensing with Health Canada where a letter to build their facility had been issued. I had researched Health Canada's own guidelines and saw the remaining steps necessary for license. I made my subsequent investments based on that and continued to invest over the next year.

(As a side note, through my research process I happened to stumble on to a few websites that were labeled "stock research" boards. I was shocked to see posters on these boards posting in excess of 500 plus negative posts per week. It is my understanding that there are companies who pay posters for such things in order to drive a stock down. It appears as though the media was eventually recruited towards this same goal).

I will keep the rest of my email relatively short. As it stands, in my opinion I feel as though I was never misled by Cen Biotech. I do however feel as though I was misled by Health Canada by their actions in not following their own guidelines and procedures. In addition to Health Canada's own negligence, in my legal opinion the town of Lakeshore clearly exercised ex post facto or retroactive zoning measures in regards to Cen Biotech's facility on Manning Road by changing the zoning regulations AFTER the facility had been built. From my prior experience this is an immediate Red Flag that the town counsel of Lakeshore may have compromised their integrity in some fashion. This was most likely a major roadblock to license issuance by Health Canada. The delays caused by Health Canada and by the town of Lakeshore gave those with a negative agenda against the company the fuel to attack the company in an attempt to say that the company was not following through with their licensing efforts when in fact every requirement was in fact met in a very timely manner. I also feel as though the February 23, 2015 article by the Globe and Mail that had the headline "Ottawa rejects marijuana firm CEN Biotech's licence application" was libelous against the company and therefore against me as a shareholder because Cen Biotech's license was NOT denied on February 23, 2015. The rest of the article clarified the headline to some extent but still left the impression that the license application had been denied as of that date. This is just one example of the media's attack on the company and the stock value. There is case law to show that this article reaches the level of libel and am in the process of researching all other articles that have been written. To date I feel as though we shareholders may have cause for legal action against at least these three entities, and possibly others that have or are currently in the process of wrongfully impeding the progress of Cen Biotech. I am fully prepared to pursue all avenues of recourse against any party wrongfully impeding this progress and I am fairly confident that enough shareholders are of the same opinion that these will be class actions suits. Currently I do not have information at my disposal as to the crux of your office's investigation, but that information will most likely be sought in some form should adverse action be taken against Cen Biotech. I would be most interested in seeing information on the complaining parties, including all stock purchase dates, all stock sale dates, any subsequent purchase dates, and number of shares traded in each transaction along with the personal details of their complaint. I would also be interested in the names and addresses of these complaining parties so as to cross reference with the various IP addresses of those posting on various online message boards. Of course eventual full discovery including deposition and cross examination of each complaining party and all media outlets involved should that stage become necessary. It is of course my hope that no legal action will be necessary against any of the above parties and that an amicable resolution can be found as soon as possible, if for no other reason so that we can start producing the medications that will help the patients that need it. I have recently been researching the benefits of this drug in treating childhood seizures and have been amazed at the results. In seeing the medical and management team that Cen Biotech has in place I am sure it is only a matter of time before they are on the forefront of this new science and saving lives.

To reiterate, Cen Biotech and Creative Edge Nutrition never made a statement that I found misleading to me as an investor and in my opinion has at all times had my best interest as a shareholder in mind.

Again - PLEASE contact me personally at the phone number or email address below should you have any questions.

Sincerely

Fwd: Just cc'ing you

To whom it may concern:

I am writing to you as a long-term investor in CEN-Biotech (ticker FITX), and in full support of the company. I would like to give some historical background and some investor perspective, from someone who has watched the company from the very beginning. I would sincerely appreciate if you would spend the time to read it, and pass it on to all who may be involved in any decision making processes having to do with CEN-Biotech regarding any potential ongoing investigations of the company. I'm not sure if there is any investigation of the company currently, but I figured I would send this just in case since the Ontario Securities Commission (OSC) had reportedly been investigating them. However, I feel any investigation is for unfair reasons, and has been triggered by misleading information and twisting of truths from individuals with an agenda to stop the company from being successful. Let me explain.

I initially became invested in March, 2013. Bill Chaaban had replaced the current CEO in April 2012. Shortly after becoming CEO, Bill Chaaban announced milestones and goals that he wanted to accomplish over the next couple of years in terms of bringing sports nutrition products to market. He was starting from scratch. However, not only did he bring Metabolic Xtreme to market, but he quickly brought several other products through research and development and to market, including AminoPlex and HyperInfusion. The products were quickly brought to market on the biggest online supplement websites, particularly bodybuilding.com, where these products were outselling more than half of all products sold on that site at one point.

Mr. Chaaban also wanted to get a ticker change to reflect the current business that had nothing to do with the old business, so he had it changed from LBGE to FITX. Not only did he get the nutritional side of the company up and running strongly (which is still ongoing), he announced and began development of the medical marijuana subsidiary (CEN-Biotech) in March, 2013. Given the goals announced for the nutritional side, all of which were followed through strategically over the next couple years, I knew that Mr. Chaaban had integrity, character, and was goal-driven. So, I knew he would work diligently no differently with the CEN-Biotech subsidiary, which he did from the beginning and has continued to do.

Similarly to how he announced goals and plans for the nutritional side of the company, and followed through on every one of them, he also announced goals and plans for the newly formed subsidiary CEN-Biotech. As investors, we again began to see steady progress from the build out of the facility in Lakeshore Ontario (following full approvals from the Town of Lakeshore, as well as receiving a "Ready to Build" letter from Health Canada), industry networking, and other tangible progress. Everything continued to appear on track and followed his earlier announcements precisely.

Bill Chaaban recruited an absolutely amazing board of directors (BOD) and medical team consisting of expert physician-scientists with world-renowned recognition and NIH-funding in the medical, scientific, research, and financial industries including a prior senior level executive at Fidelity and JPMorgan, as well as John Germinario, who works with the US SEC (securities exchange commission). The magnitude and achievements of these personnel are proof that they would not be joining just any company if the company were not legitimate.

Everything continued to be on track and correlated accurately with every announcement made. Then, we began to run into delays, which were due to Health Canada taking much longer than expected for coming to inspect the CEN-Biotech facility. These delays were months and months despite the company being ready for inspection. This added to decreasing share price. When they finally did come to inspect many months later, the report stated that approval was recommended pending the correction of 2 very minor issues (a screen over a vent, and the security camera angle). Again, we began to wait many more months for final approval, even though these minor issues were quickly fixed. Again, this caused the share price to decline further.

In these many months of delay, the Town of Lakeshore began to change their stance. They initially welcomed the company to Lakeshore in a public video <http://vimeo.com/83685127> and had received approvals for their facility build-out. This public support of the town's officials was one reason many investors were attracted to the company. However, in more recent months while the delays due to Health Canada were occurring, the town council also decided to try to change the local bylaws and change the zoning in a way that would inhibit CEN-Biotech from operating. A few nearby residents began to complain about the project with outlandish claims/concerns just as license was coming, despite watching the buildings go up and saying nothing for all of the preceding months. It later came out in a letter by the company to the town councilors that some of these same few neighbors were attempting to extort significant compensation in monetary value and employment in return for their support of the company/building, which the company did not stand for (and rightfully so).

These few neighbors were able to influence their local councilors to attempt to write a new bylaw stating medical cannabis grow-ops need to be zoned industrial, not agricultural (CEN-Biotech is agricultural). From the medical perspective, this is a disastrous idea given environmental toxins in an industrial area, such as heavy metals and other microbial and inorganic toxins. The mayor also began to flip-flop regarding CEN-Biotech, suspected to be politically driven. There have been identical zoning motions passed by other towns that were struck down by the provincial government, saying that grow-ops do not require industrial zoning. The town clearly knew what was being built the whole time, provided building permits, along with the ready to build letter from Health Canada. In televised Town Council meetings, the leadership did not take the advice of their hired experts. In addition, there was a letter written from these few residents and their attorney to Health Canada as well asking them to delay/avoid license to CEN-Biotech, which added more delay. This of course led to a further decline in share price.

Along with the delay from the above issues, we began to see an assault against CEN-Biotech by the media. In particular, Grant Robertson of the Globe and Mail has targeted CEN-Biotech with a relentless assault of articles, many of which have not been based on true facts, or twisting of the actual facts. I have watched his articles timed with every time that the stock has a continued uptrend in share value. He will then release several articles in a row that caused the stock to drop significantly. I have watched this occur over and over. His misleading articles have alone caused the biggest loss of shareholder value. In my opinion, I honestly feel that he has a personal agenda against the company, likely being funded by trader groups, competitor companies (my guess), or something else. I sincerely hope that he is investigated for his role in loss of shareholder value, because he is a central piece. Matt Finston and Chris Parry are two bloggers and writers who have also been relentlessly attacking CEN-Biotech during all of the delays the company has suffered, driving share price even further down. In fact, Grant Robertson has quoted and discussed Matt Finston several times in his articles, and I wouldn't be surprised if these individuals were all working together somehow for a common goal of destroying the company through misleading articles and claims. I truly hope this investigation is fair and they are all investigated. Matt Finston has also talked about shorting FITX on his Twitter and there are shareholders who have all of these screenshots saved.

There is documentation of Libby Davies meeting with the Tilray lobbyists - a competitor of Cen-Biotech, and later on Libby was quoted in one of Grant Robertson's misleading articles on CEN-Biotech, also attacking the company herself. I hope that paper and money trails are evaluated with these individuals. A prior high-level Tweed executive was also attacking FITX on his Twitter. I honestly feel there is an orchestrated attack against the company in attempts to cause them to fail, likely from competitors who feel threatened by CEN-Biotech since they would be the largest grower upon licensure, and possibly from trading groups who could be shorting the stock. This is just speculation, but I wouldn't at all be surprised as I have watched everything closely unfold since the very beginning, before Mr. Chaaban even took over as CEO. These misleading articles, blogs, and events have now influenced Health Canada negatively, which led to license denial for CEN-Biotech. This is an unjust decision, based on misleading journalism with a skewed agenda.

Please read through this page on the CEN-Biotech website, which addresses many of these issues and investor concerns:

<http://www.cenbiotechinc.com/PlatformApps/CEN/c1/faq.html>

Never once did I feel misled in anyway by any announcements or public releases from the company or Mr. Chaaban. There are over 2100 investors alone on a dedicated CEN-Biotech investor page on the internet who feel the same way, which is why we have stuck it out continuously. We have lost significant value in our investments. This is not because of Bill Chaaban, or any statements he or the company has made. He has worked tirelessly to make the company a success, evident by all the historical progress I described above. These losses are purely due to the events, agendas, and manipulation discussed above, which have erroneously influenced Health Canada.

CEN-Biotech has been painted in a very unfair and blatantly untrue light in the media. As one of many investors, I'm sick of watching it happen with no repercussions against these individuals (such as Grant Robertson, Mayor Tom Bain and councilors, local neighbors in Lakeshore, Matt Finston, and Chris Parry). The only investigation that should be ongoing in my opinion is against Grant Robertson, these aforementioned individuals, the Town of Lakeshore, and Health Canada, rather than the company itself. I sincerely hope that your team will quickly find this to be the case.

For those with disabling neurologic diseases, it is an absolute shame how much of a delay the company has sustained in beginning their research and development of medical cannabis strains and medications, all due to the influence from misleading articles and manipulative behaviors above, as well as unjust retroactive changes in bylaws that the town of Lakeshore has been attempting to pass. I continued to stay invested in CEN-Biotech because I was excited (and still am) with their plans for moving the science of medical cannabis forward, along with the outstanding medical professionals they had collected on their Board of Directors who would be involved in the research and company. It is honestly quite sad for the patients who need better quality medications, which CEN-Biotech has been waiting to begin production of, only to continue being delayed for unjust reasons based on false and misleading journalism as discussed above.

I implore you to please investigate fairly, and please investigate the entities mentioned above who have played the biggest role in loss of shareholder value. I have watched this company unfold from the very beginning. I have watched Bill Chaaban attain all of the company's stated goals until the above issues halted the company's progress. I only hope that these issues will be brought to light and the company is cleared and able to continue with their previously stated goals for the future.

I have been an active investor for over 33 years, and I have never seen such a blatant and coordinated attack against a legitimate company!!!

Sincerely,

cast

Last summer, securities administrators across the country discussed a new rule called Multilateral Instrument 51-105, which states that OTC market companies in the U.S. that want to operate in Canada must comply with Canadian reporting rules – which means filing prospectuses, audited financials and other disclosure documents typically expected of a public company.

The goal was to improve disclosure standards for these companies and to discourage abusive “promotional activities,” such as inaccurate or exaggerated claims made to investors.

The new rule, proposed by British Columbia, was accepted by the other provinces – except Ontario, which disagreed that it was needed.

That means a company like Creative Edge doesn't have to answer to the Ontario Securities Commission.

In an e-mailed statement, the OSC said it investigated last year to see if such problems were an issue but “has not found sufficient evidence of abusive activity being conducted in Ontario.”

Health Canada now finds itself in the position of potentially granting a licence to a company that does not fall under the watch of any financial regulator.

The introduction of 51-105 stemmed from “a desire to step in and be the regulator of last resort, if you will, for companies that weren't otherwise regulated,” said Rob Lando, a corporate securities lawyer at Osler. “It says, since no one else is regulating you, we will.”

But Ontario's refusal to sign on creates a “safe haven” for OTC companies, he added. “Maybe the word is out that Ontario is open season because it's the only province that doesn't have 51-105. It's possible.”

<http://m.theglobeandmail.com/report-on-business/how-much-does-ottawa-know-about-the-medical-marijuana-companies-its-licensing/article22008885/?service=mobile>

But then on March 25 2015, he reports that the OSC is investigating CEN Biotech:

“CEN Biotech, a company that soared to be worth hundreds of millions of dollars last year on claims that it was being licensed to build the world's largest medical marijuana facility in Canada, is under investigation by the Ontario Securities Commission.

The regulator said Wednesday it is looking into the company and its parent firm, but did not provide further details, such as how long the investigation has been going on or if regulators in the United States are involved.

“The OSC has an active investigation into this matter,” Carolyn Shaw-Rimmington, spokeswoman for the OSC, said in an e-mail to The Globe and Mail.”

Meanwhile, since his latest article was published, the stock was lost 30% of it's value!!! And to that point, Grant Robertson of the Globe and Mail has written 11 or 12 articles accusing the CEO of wrongdoing, but has never proven anything other than spreading accusations and innuendoes. Every time he published an article the stock PPS dropped dramatically!

I did a bit more digging and found that indeed the OSC does not investigate OTC stocks as it did not sign on to 51-105.

I am sure that you are well aware of the problems that CEN Biotech has had with the Town of Lakeshore, but what might you might not know is that other Licensed MMPR companies have been possibly connected to the demise of CEN Biotech.

I did some research and also found an interesting connection between Aphria CEO Vic Neufeld and the Town of Lakeshore. It might not be anything, but the connections and the comment by Mr. Neufeld about CEN Biotech's License application were enough for me to be suspicious.

Vic Neufeld is former CEO of Jamieson Laboratories in Windsor. They are Canada's oldest and largest Vitamin company. He is a power broker in the region and sits on the board of Windsor Canada Utilities and most recently was appointed to the Windsor Federal Credit Union board.

He said this in a December Windsor Star article – "They must be livid in Ottawa right now," Aphria Inc. CEO Vic Neufeld said of the likely Health Canada response to the recent reports on CEN Biotech."

<http://blogs.windsorstar.com/news/questions-raised-over-lakeshore-pot-plan>

He is also friends with Marty Komsa, the CEO of WFCU, who also sits on the board of Windsor Canada Utilities. Komsa recently christened the new Aquatic Center in Lakeshore brandishing the name Windsor Federal Credit Union.

Strangely, Aphria released a PR last week which stated that they were 'working' with Health Canada, which is a charge that was made against Bill Chabaan to which Health Canada said they do not work with anyone...

"Aphria also announced that it successfully renewed its license to cultivate and sell marijuana under the Marihuana for Medical Purposes Regulations ("MMPR"). However, commensurate with its announcement last week of a two-phase expansion plan, the first part of which will commence immediately, Aphria will be working with Health Canada to increase the amount it is permitted to cultivate and sell under the MMPR from its current annualized growing capacity of 1,400 kilograms to 2,50"

<http://www.marketwired.com/press-release/aphria-successfully-amends-license-to-allow-for-wholesale-shipping-tsx-venture-aph-2003413.htm>

And coincidentally, Grant Robertson did some nice write ups on Aphria –

<http://m.theglobeandmail.com/report-on-business/health-canada-grants-aphria-licence-to-grow-and-sell-marijuana/article21821901/?service=mobile>

I have seen Chuck Rifici, the former CEO, use Twitter to Tweet out a multiple of Tweets calling FITX a scam. I have even seen an email received by another Long Investor that shows Brendan Kennedy, former CEO of Tilray, and head of Privateer Holdings calling FITX a scam.

To demonstrate very real fraud and deception, I have included screenshots and a formal complaint that I filed with the SEC back in July concerning a member of the IHUB community impersonating Kirk Foran, a Canadian public official from Lakeshore, in order to manipulate the stock. He went by rolphotonair on IHub and then had a false Facebook account under the name Eddie Jorge Falco. He emailed me under the name Joey Sunstrom trying to gain my confidence to perpetuate his fraud. He said in the email that he had corresponded with one Nathan Armstrong of the now defunct Motive Industries who had developed a Hemp Composite of which Creative Edge Nutrition came to own the molds and tooling through their Hemp Technologies division. I was able to do a Google image search and connected the FB user profile to be the same as one Eddie Tsao of Toronto. I can not say for certain that the person responsible for the fraud is Eddie Tsao, but that is what I found.

I have also included screenshots of a Twitter conversation that I had with Chris Parry of Stockhouse.com where he admits to being a paid stock promoter. He has been the author of many negative article about Creative Edge Nutrition and CEN Biotech.

I have never been witness to so much Bashing against a stock in all of the time that I have invested in the stock market. I know that it occurs, but I have never personally been invested in a stock where it did occur.

I wanted to share a sample of the sort of information that has been spread over the past year concerning the company and I hope that you will at least consider that there are forces at work here who indeed wish for CEN Biotech to fail before they've ever been given the opportunity to run a business.

Best regards,

To Bill and Company

In February of 2014 I bought my first few shares of FITX shares. A family member found your company. Since that day I have followed everything I could follow, and as of March 27 2015 I added more shares never selling a share. From 10 cents to under 1 cent I still believe in what you are doing for the share holders, but more so for what you want to do for the people who need the medicine, and research. Thank you all for putting up with threats, manipulation, dishonesty from so many. God bless you all for what you have put up with over the last year. Thanks for all your time.

To Whom it Concerns:

Good evening. I am a long time shareholder of CEN Biotech (Ticker: FITX) and am writing to you today to express my concern that my investment is being unfairly treated by various entities.

In most recent news, I have become aware that the Ontario Securities Commission is starting an investigation into CEN Biotech.

As a shareholder, I have been dismayed and offended at the conduct of Health Canada, The Town of Lakeshore, and the Globe and Mail, specifically the Senior Business Writer Grant Robertson. It is my utmost belief that Bill Chaaban has been the most honest and transparent a CEO can legally be and if there is any question as a regard to his character it is my belief that it is because he has been continuously misled by The Town of Lakeshore and Health Canada.

Bill Chaaban has been tirelessly working to put together an unparalleled team of professionals to make the lives better of so many people who need an alternative form of QUALITY medicine. This company has been politically and maliciously delayed too long in an effort to save and improve the lives of so many Canadian citizens, and people across the globe. To deny this company that opportunity to do so after successfully building a multimillion-dollar facility under the blessing of Mayor Tom Bain I might add, would be inhumane.

I believe the company has played by and complied with all of the laws, rules and regulations required of an MMPR applicant and noted in CEN Biotech's pre-license inspection report by a Health Canada Official "Based on the information provided during the inspection, the applicant will be ready and able to meet the requirements of the MMPR...". Please note, the educated investors who have been closely following the company know we have NOT been misled by our companies executives but have been by the outside entities that I mentioned above and have caused me considerable financial harm.

I stand behind CEO Bill Chaaban and the vision of CEN Biotech.

Thank you for your time,

Proud Shareholder of FITX

To Whom It May Concern:

It has been brought to my attention that the OSC began an open investigation into the operations of Cen Biotech, US ticker FITX. I have been a shareholder since November of 2013, as Cen Biotech was being courted by both Lakeshore Mayor Tom Bain, Sandra Pupatello and Health Canada to build a world class, cutting edge medical marijuana company. The statements made to the publics were that CEN will bring in jobs and new tax rolls to the community of Lakeshore, Essex. The January of 2014 press conference and announcement with Mayor Bain, Sandra Papatello, CEO Bill Chaaban and others was an incredible demonstration of support by the Mayor and VP of Economic Development Sandra Pupatello. This was a benchmark and vital turning point for not only myself but thousands of other investors but CEN Biotech as it confirmed the support by the local government to build. As an aside, I am not a novice investor and have over 20 years conducting due diligence and investing both in public and private companies. I know a great opportunity when I see one and CEN clearly was on track and verified by the government officials in lockstep together.

Please review this leading indicator from Mayor Bain and CEO Economic Development Sandra Pupatello.

<https://vimeo.com/83685127>

Mr Chaaban has always been 100% accurate, honest and has always looked out for the shareholders best interests. He assembled an all star Board of Directors that consisted of Wall Street top executives, the worlds most prominent SEC whistleblower and top research scientists. All of which are aimed to create and develop new treatments for children suffering from deadly seizures and many other inoperable acute diseases. I happen to be one of the patients who would benefit the most as a recent cancer survivor and look to CEN as a pioneer of this new industry.

This isn't only about making money as you may now see, it is a life's dream for Mr Chaaban, myself and millions of others fighting off incurable disease and suffering through the same old big Pharma script to pop more pills path to nowhere. Mr Chaaban, the BOD and their team NEVER and I mean NEVER once misled myself or anyone that I know (which is in the thousands), that have invested into CEN. I have a significant investment into CEN and absolutely reject this notion and condemn anyones efforts to paint this negative picture.

When Mr Chaaban began this project, he raised private capital and invested millions of his own funds to launch the buildout. Todd Cain and others cleared the path for CEN or any company to follow the established MMPR compliancy laws, and if a company does complete the steps, they would be rewarded a license to grow. CEN met and even raised all criteria along the way and was given the final inspection on July 31, 2014. Per the CEN timeline, the HC inspector stated that CEN could expect license within 1-2 weeks. HC then shut off the communications to CEN and in the process the dark underbelly of the OTC markets appeared and commenced on unprecedented attacks on CEN. From July 31, 2014 through today there have been dozens of articles publishes, racist videos made and personal threats of bodily harm to Mr Chabaan and others involved as shareholders and employees. One such basher, Chris Parry even tweeted to the employer of a long shareholder with the intent to make this shareholder lose their employment. There are many other threats and disgusting acts that occurred targeting CEN and everyone involved during this period while CEN was waiting on final approval (per inspectors/MMPR laws).

Testimonial Regarding CENBIOTECH

I am certain by this time, this correspondence is only one of many you are receiving regarding recent decisions about the licensing of CENBIOTECH for production of medical Marijuana and character attacks on the company and its CEO, Mr. Bill Chabaan.

I am an average joe kind of guy. I like many others work, pay taxes and hope for a brighter future for myself and my family by doing so. I know the playing field isn't level so where I can I try to invest to help offset that aspect of life. In the case of my investment in CENBIOTECH also like many others have seen my investment diminish in market value over time. At first it appeared to be from typical bureaucratic delays in the application and approval process but as time went on and in light of the most recent activities it appears to be a concerted and organized effort to delay, deny and possibly destroy this company. The evidentiary information has been provided in the other correspondence you have received and should provide a jump to your investigative arms intelligence gathering.

I took it on faith when another company had planned to invest a significant amount of money with Mr. Chabaan that they had vetted his company and him personally. I don't have the resources to investigate business dealings, nor would I know how to. After then exploring a bit more into who he and this company were and what their plan was I convinced myself I was on the right track. And began concentrating my funds into CENBIOTECH. I have been following developments since my initial purchase of shares and quite frankly am frustrated at the continued assault on the company and Mr. Chabaan by political entities, so called journalists and their outlets.

I believe in Mr. Chabaan's vision of providing quality medicinal products to those in need. I believe he has played by and complied with all the laws, rules and regulations required of an applicant. I believe as one of our other investors put it recently there is big money at stake in this industry and that brings big thieves.

I have tremendous concern regarding the secretive nature of your investigations and reporting of findings but am willing to concede that is your charter. My only appeal is that you keep the playing field level, keep political influence at bay and judiciously look into all players. Please find the thieves and restore my confidence in government oversight agencies.

Thank you for your time,
